THE TROUBLE AT PRINCETON.

POSITION OF THE OPPOSING PARTIES.

DE. M'COSH'S CHANGE OF HEART-WHAT PROFES-SORS AND STUDENTS SAY.

PRINCETON, March 5.—President McCosh came home this morning from New-York, where he attended the alumni dinner last night. The New-York papers had preceded him, and many a shout went up as the students gathered in knots about the campus, read extracts of his after-dinner speech in one column and the reports of the mass-meeting of students in another. "The speech was prepared last week," was the explanation given by the venerable president, referring to this part of his address:

this part of his address:

I am happy to be able to report that our college is in a very quiet state. When we were putiting down certain degrading customs, interviewers from New-York used to come down to see us, and the exasgerated reports they carried back were copied into the Philiadelphia and other papers. We are no longer favored with such visitors. Should they continue to visit us they would find a large amount of study going ou, but nothing of that spicy sort which is fitted to grafify vitiated tastes. All the vulgar college customs brought from England, and continuing in the American colleges for ages, have now disappeared, and, what is more pleasant, the present race of students do not wish for their return.

The resolutions adonted in Mercer Hall last

The resolutions adopted in Mercer Hall last night about the time that Dr. McCosh was speaking in New-York were printed to-day with the following introduction:

We, the students of Princeton College, in mass-meeting assembled, indorse the following preamble and resolutions, to be presented to the Board of Trustees.

The substance of the resolutions was printed in THE TRIBUNE to-day. The committee appointed to present the resolutions to the Board of Trustees denied that they should be recognized as leaders in the matter. Todd, '84; Jelke, '84; Harper, '84, and Wilson, '85, are the committee. A son of Murat Halstead was on the committee that prepared the resolutions.

DR. M'COSH SPEAKS TO THE STUDENTS. Dr. McCosh is greatly disturbed over the anonymous circular and the agitation that is resulting from it. He is sure, he says, that the men who prepared the charges are now in the meu who prepared the charges are now in college. After he had finished his lecture this aftermoon, to about sixty seniors in an elective class in Philosophy, he spoke to them in regard to the present trouble, saying in substance:

Our college is not in a good state. I do not know exactly the feeling among the students. I want to say that if there is any one who has any complaint to make, let him bring it to the Faculty and I will do my best to promote the ends of justice. I are the president of the college and have authority. If the decision of the faculty is not satisfactory you can appeal to the Board of Trustees. That court is open to all and it is the highest authority. The public think that the college is a poor one, and that the faculty and the students are both bad. Something is entirely wrong. For myself I say that I have never been guilty of a system of espionage. I said to the faculty that it was our business to keep order, and I told the futors if they saw a man going wrong to go and talk to him, and if that didn't help matters to send the student to me. I said: Don't try the spy system, for the boys will outspy you.

A TALK WITH THE PRESIDENT.

A TALK WITH THE PRESIDENT. Seated in his parlor later in the day, Dr. McCosh talked over the trouble with THE TRIBUNE correspondent. He said in substance what he had told the class-that there were three ways of having their wrongs righted: they could come to him as the president of the college; they could go to the faculty, where he would see that they had a fair hearing; or they could appeal to the trustees. In his fifteen years in the college no appeal had gone beyond the faculty. The anonymous circular he denounced in severe terms, but he was cautious about the course to be pursued in dealing with the

We are wholly on the defensive. If the students can prove the charges that they have made the proper action will be taken. The students are injuring the college by this agitation. They are not good friends to the college. The valgar people will taink there is something wrong here. There is no system of espionage in Princeton. I am surprised at many of the charges made in the circular. It is said that a professor offered a free home to a student if he would act as a spy in his building. That is false, for no instructor has a right to make such an offer. I believe that Dr. Murray is trying to stop the students from gambing and going to Trenton. In this he is perfectly right. There is not much gambling here. Cards are not prohibited but gambling is.

Do you regard the present system of discipline more severe than your own!

der not to answer that question, as it would WHAT DR. MURRAY SAYS.

The Rev. Dr. Murray was formerly the pastor of stamber he became Dean of the Faculty in addition to his duties as an instructor. His new duties consist in administering the discipline of the the students last night were founded on a misapprehension and misrepresentation of his administration. When asked what constituted the systhat Mr. Goldie, the college procter, was a recognized college officer. Once or twice when students had left town he had asked the train men if they had gone to Princeton Junction. The students were advised last night to settle their difficulties through committees appointed by the several classes and the faculty; but they had refused to do so. Regarding the athletic regulations, the Dean said that the faculty were united on that matter.

PROFESSOR SLOANE DEFENDS HIMSELF. At the meeting last night, a senior said that a pro fessor had offered to secure for him, free of chargea furnished room in a college building if he would report to him personally any irregularities that he saw in that building. Professor William M. Sloane was the instructor mentioned. He said to-day: was the instructor mentioned. He said to-day:
Since my name has been made public I will tell you the facts. Some time ago Charies T. MacMullen, of Glendale, Ohio, came to me and said that he did not know how he was going to complete his studies here; that he lacked money, etc. I suggested several ways in which I might help him and finally suggested the possibility of securing for him a free room. He asked me if he would be expected to perform the duties of proctor. I told him that he would be expected to lend his influence toward keeping order. Why did I not speak at the alumni dinner I I was invited to speak as an individual in favor of the new regulations. It was given out, however, that I was going to speak as the chairman of the committee appointed by the college conference to prepare suggestions in regard to intercollegiate contexts, and a Princeton graduate was going to "criticise" my remakes. Of course I was not going to speak under any such conditions. The whole difficulty is due to the new athletic regulations. That matter is given a small showing in the resolutions, but it is the real issue.

POSITION OF THE STUDENTS.

POSITION OF THE STUDENTS. The correspondent talked with several students, pone of whom would allow his name to used. They said that the meeting would flefend the action taken last night, even if it meant a general bolt. One of them said that the intention was to ignore the faculty, and appeal to the trustees at once. A special meeting would doubtless be called to consider the complaint. One of the stories current was that Dr. Murray had written to a student unfer discipline to whom he had offered initigation of sentence if he would give information regarding his friends in the college who were suspected of being his accomplices. The charges in reference to the system of espionage were told again and again, and proof of each charge is being formulated to be presented to the trustees.

A CONSULTATION WITH THE PRESIDENT. The committee appointed by the college to present to the trustees the resolutions adopted last night held a consultation with President McCosh this evening. The committee have refused to make public what occurred, but it is understood that they were advised to withdraw from their position unless they were positively sure every charge mound be proven to the satisfaction of a court of justice. The students generally feel confident that all allegations made can be substantiated.

NEW-YORK ALUMNI AND TRUSTEES SPEAK. NO BELIEF IN THE ALLEGED SPY SYSTEM-HOW

GAMES AND SPORTS SHOULD BE REGARDED. A reporter of THE TRIBUNE yesterday called upon two of the alumni and two of the trustees of the college in this city, who take an active interest in the institution's welfare, to obtain their opinions on the trouble at Princeton. James W. Alexander. president of the Princeton Alumni Association of New-York, said in answer to the reporter's inquiries : quiries:

I know very little about the details of the trouble between the Faculty and the students. The first that I knew about it was when I received one of the abouymous circulars sent out oscensibly by some of the students. I don't think the alumni and the public should be hasty in their judgment on the matter, based upon such a statement of the students' side of the trouble as that circular was. It was contemptible, in my opinion, to send out such a document and in such a manner. There may have been some missible the students of the trouble of the students of the students.

men sometimes make mistakes, and some errors of judgment may have been committed which hurt the feelings of the better class of students. Then the more rebellious and discontented ones took advantage of this state of affairs to bring about the present unfortunate condition of things. I cannot believe that there has been any such system of espionage as that circular charges, because the Faculty is composed of men of good sense who have the welfare of the college and the students at heart, and they certainly know that young men could not be treated in the unmanly way that the circular describes. I think that the young men should have their games and sports, but that athletic contests should be properly regulated. There might be reasonable rules made governing such contests, in support of which all good colleges could unite. I believe in giving the students instruction in athletics and in employing an instructor of high character to give it. Mr. Goldie seems to me to be competent for that position. I do not believe in letting the students get some "professional" of the prize-fighting stamp from New-York to train the boys. There have, no doubt, been many excesses in combetion with colleges aports, and gamoling and drinking have been indulged in. That sould be stopped by all means. There should be athletic contests between the students of different colleges, I think, for such contests and the healthy spirit of rivalry and emulation aroused by them are good for college boys. I hope that good will come from this controversey and that it will result in the disappearance of such objectionable features of college sports as heve existed before this.

HENRY M. ALEXANDER'S VIEWS.

Henry M. Alexander, of the law firm of Alexander & Green, of No. 120 Broadway, who is a trustee of the college and extremely active in his interest for the institution, expressed himself on the subject as follows:

the institution, expressed himself on the subject as follows:

I do not believe that any spy system exists at Princeton; at any rate, not to the extent indicated in the circular. I do not believe in such a system. The attack made on the Deau, Dr. Murray, is earlierly uncalled for, as he is a man of the greatest prudence, judgment and kindness of of heart. In my opinion, the charges made against him must have been made on the principle that the "gailed hade winces." I see no reason why a respectable "professional" should not be employed to teach the studente bell-playing and boating. The present instructor in grunnastics, Mr. Goldle, is a "respectable professional," and is one in whom every one who knows him has cutive conditione. The question rests entirely upon the character of the person employed as instructor. I doubt extremely if any harm comes to young men in college from going abroad in a club or team to engage in athlete sports. But great harm comes from going off singly or in pairs to the city. I can see no harm in permitting students under proper restriction to play with professional clubs away from Princeton or on grounds not belonging to colleges. I believe that a student who leaves colege to take part in athletic games should have the permission of his pracent or guardian in addition to that of the Faculty. All this is said without any reference to the effect on students' studies. That is a different question. Games should be regulated with reference to that question. So far as athletics do not interfere with studies, I believe they do the students good. I do not believe the gross charges in the circular about which you ask my opinion. In reading the circular it struck me as being extremely lavenic and verdant, and calculated to do the students who issued it great harm. It will have the effect of destroying sympathy for them which would otherwise have been aroused.

WHAT DR. ROBERTS SAYS.

WHAT DR. ROBERTS SAYS. The Rev. Dr. William C. Roberts, of the Presbyterian Board of Home Missions, for eighteen years an active trustee of the college, expressed these

Views:

I do not believe the charges in that circular. The Faculty have no interests other than the weifare of the students, and they would not adopt my such system. The Faculty believe that within certain reasonable limits, which they must set down in the interests of the students and the college, the young men should be given perfect freedom—that the students should be treated as gentiemen. I do not believe that college boys should be allowed to play with "professional" players. I think that the inflaence of "professionals" in general, however, is extremely demoralizing. I should not be surprised if there was some ground for the complaints of the students, but the young men have misundertood their instructors and have greatly exaggerated their complaints.

M. Taylor Payne, of No. 26 Exchange-place, one of the younger alumni, considered the publication and distribution of the circular most ill-advised and thought that it would hurt both the college and the cause of the students. He did not believe a system of espionage as charged in the circular existed at Princeton.

THE PURIM MASQUERADE BALL. SCENES OF GAYETY AND DROLLERY.

A LARGE ASSEMBLY IN MASKS AND DOMINOS AT

THE METROPOLITAN OPERA HOUSE.

The annual ball of the Purim Association took place last evening in the Metropolitan Opera House. It was given in aid of the fund for furnishing the new Hebrew Orphan Asylum at Tenth-ave, and One-hundredand-sixly-fourth-st., and it was expected that about $15,000 would be realized. The people began to gather shortly after 9 p. m. Expressions of surprise and delight were frequent as they poured in at the Broadway entrance, which had been converted into a bower of fragrance and beauty. Around the sides of the cocridor were tall evergreen trees, and a rustic fence and gateway stretched across the from. In the centre of the inclosed space was a bank of evergreen surrounded by beds of tulips, ox-eyed the Brick Presbyterian Church in New-York. He said to-day that the statements made by | drell aspect or small slik banners with equally comical pictures. From the top of the prescentum arch fell long, graceful festoens of brilliant bunting, and against this was seen in gas jets the word "Charity," and undertem of espionage complained of, Dr. Murray said neath the Purian monogram comprising the five letters of the word. The floors of the corridors were carpeted and an orchestra played in the supper room, which was in charge of faylor, of the St. Denis Hotel. The Purim Gazette, a handsomely bound annual with engravings and descriptions of the ball and charity, was given to each

The ball opened about 10 p. m. After the opening selections from "Ruy Blas" and "Lohengrin" had died away the curtain went up and disclosed the ballet arranged by Signor Francesco. A number of pretty t bleaus and dances succeeded each other, Mile. Theo de Gilberit being assisted by Miles. Prone, Gorman, Canningham and Manzeue and twenty-four coryphees. Then followed the marca from "Le Propheto," and waltzes, galops, quadrilles, and lanciers to the number of twenty-four kept the people's feet husy. The opening procession was a handsome and varied display of costumes in which Arabians, nuns, courtiers, Hungarian hussars and Greelan princesses were interministed. All the masks were removed at 1 a. m. There was no dearth of enjoyment, and the Hebrew element entered with zest into the keeping of "Merry Parim." About four thousand people were present. FOR AND AGAINST O'BRIEN.

A CAUCUS CALLED IN HIS INTEREST. MR. O'BRIEN CONFIDENT OF ELECTION-TALK ON

BOTH SIDES. The contest over the chairmanship of the Republican County Committee continues to excite a good deal of interest among local politicians. Colonel George Bilss, United States District-Attorney Root, Police Justice Solon B. Smith, and other supporters of M. W. Cooper still maintain that his chances for election are good. Ex-Alderman Perley said yesterday that the number of votes certain for Cooper is about 120, and the number certain to be east against him about the same, leaving 32 votes for the doubtful and absent ones. He estimated that the majority either way would not be more than ten votes. John J. O'Brien, Robert G. McCord, Michael Cregan and others opposed to Cooper assert that he is certain to be defeated by about ferty votes. The following circular was sent yesterday to every member of the County Committee;

yesterday to every member of the County Committee:

New-York, March 5, 1884.

Sir:—You are carnestly requested to attend a meeting of delegates to the Républican County Committee, to be held at Madison Square Hall, 948 Brondway, Thursday evening, March 6, at 8 o'clock. Delegates from each and every Assembly District in the county having been invited to be present, and as united and narmonious action is essential to success in the impending sNeight, I hope you will favor us with your presence. Very respectfully yours.

John J. O'Brien.

In reference to the contest Mr. O'Brien said: "The County Committee will probably meet on Tuesday night. I am certain to be elected. I regret exceedingly that the contest has led to exaggerated assertions on the part of some persons opposed to me, and the publication of missiatements such as those in regard to the campaign fund of last year. The fact is, I foresaw last year that we had a good opportunity to carry the State, and urged the State Committee to provide us with the necessary means for the legitimate campaign work in this city. We supposed were would get the usual amount, but the day before the election the State Committee informed us that it had no funds. A few persons got together and subscribed $2,500; and we raised the remaining $7,500 by discounting a note, the chairman of the State Committee assuring us that the note would be paid by that committee. There are lifteen indorsers on that note. Any bank in town would be glad to discount such a note whole thing has been used in the same the same that he whole thing has been used in or that money; and the whole thing has been used in or that money; and the whole thing has been used in or the unit of the whole thing has been used in or the unit of the whole thing has been used in or the unit of the whole thing has been used in or the unit of the whole thing has been used in or the unit of the whole thing has been used in or the unit of the whole thing has been used in the note, have agreed to pay $1.000 of tt. There will be no trouble in rataing the money. The statement that members of the Union League Club refused to subscribed money, if any of it were to go to the County Committee, is false. And what has the thing the same allowed to do with money subscribed for the use of the work will also year. We had allogether less than $15 an election district, not enough hardly to pay for putting up the booths. And yet, if the county districts, in which the State Committee spent its money, had done as well as we did here in the city, we would have carried the state by a nandsome majority. We never spent so little money in a canvass in this city as last year. We did not have one doilar to ten spent by the Deunocrats."

J. R. Lydecker, one of the persons who indorsed the note amount, would get the year. We did not have one dottar to ten speat by the Democrats."

J. R. Lydecker, one of the persons who indorsed the note referred to Mr. O'Brien, said: "There is not the alightest trouble over that note. The talk about it now is wholly uncalled for. No one has refused to subscribe money because Mr. O'Brien is a candidate for chairman of the County Committee. And the hints that Mr. O'Brien or his friends might misuse the campaign funds are anjunt and absurd. There are too many persons interested in a campaign for the small sain of money given to be wasted without the fact being known."

Robert McCord said: "Ail campaign money is handled by District Committees. There is no chance for the chairman of the County Committee to misuse it." chairman of the County Committee to misuse it."

It was said last night that only the supporters of Mr.
O'Brien will attend the case as called for to-night.

This raises a new question. The law requires members of courts-martial to take an oath imposing several obligations which are set forth in distinct terms. Of course Congress can change the term of the outh or repeal the act which requires an eath to be taken, and can afford protection against the legal consequences of perjury. But can it relieve men from the moral obligation of a continuing oath already taken ! The member of tion of a continuing oath aircasy taken? The member of a court martial takes the oath in compliance with what may be looked upon as a contract between him and Congress; but the obligation established by taking the oath is between the man and God Alindrity. After her death, Smith and his son James, age sixteen, continued to live in Hancock. Two weeks age sixteen, continued to live in Hancock. Two weeks ago the father was driving on a steep hill near the village with a load of bark. He fell from the load in some way, and one runner of his sied passed over his head, killing him. The son then went to live with a married sister at Lordville, a neighboring village. Last Salurday he stole a ride on the caboose of a freight train, on the Eric Railwar, to Hancock. The train did not stop at that station. Young Smith jumped from the train, and falling beneath the wheels of the caboose was instantly killed.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] NORWICH, March 5.—At Oxford, a few miles from here, a barn belonging to James Lobdell, a prosper-ous farmer, was burned nine years ago, and it was be-lieved that Lobdell perished in the flames. Bones resembling those of a human body were found, and a fun-eral ceremony was held. He returned to Oxford yester-day, saying that he has been wandering all over the United-States during his absence. He has never once communicated with his relatives or friends.

Travers was arrested, and to-day gave $1,000 bad to appear before the Grand Jury.

TRIBUNE LOCAL OBSERVATIONS. TM HOURS: Morning. Night. 16 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 12 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11

The diagram shows the becometrical variations in this day by teach of inches. The perpendicular lines give divisions of time for the 4th human proceeding admission. The tregular white tim respectate the oscillation by the mercary during those bours. The broken or dutied line represent the variational a temperature, as indicated by the thermometer at Had not a Pharmacy, its linealway.

TRIBUNE OFFICE, March 6.-1 a. m .- The movemen in the barometer yesterday was downward. Cloudy weather was followed by snow, which, when melted, measured .22 of an inch. The temperature ranged between 15° and 34°, the average (26^{14}) being 8^{14} higher than on the corresponding day last year and 9° higher than on Suday. Left is now or rain, followed by cloudy and clearing weather, may be expected to-day in this city and vicinity.

A DAY OF SNOW AND MORE PROMISED. The weather was again a disagreeable subject of public interest yesterday. Snow in fine particles be-gan falling at 11 o'clock and continued, with steady per-sistency, throughout the day. The net result in point of depth was not much. It just succeeded in hiding here and there the accumulations of dirt and refuse which at other times are offensive to more than one of the five senses. But the temperature being only five senses. But the temperature being only a little below the freezing point, much of the snow melted, and the wet snow rendered the streets and side-walks slippery and dangerous. A wind blew all day, driving the fine particles of snow before it with biinding force, rendering it difficult for the pedestian to pick his footsteps in slippery places. The storm was central in Arkansas yesterday morning and moving eastward. There were thunderstorms in the southern part of Ohio. Snow fell in the northern part of the lake region. Cautionary signals were displayed all along the coast from the Gulf of Mexico to Eastport, Maine. The warmest place was in foxas, where the there mometer registered 67°; the coldest was at Fort Garry, Manitoba, where the temperature fell to 30° below zero. At the Signal Service Office it was said that the storm would probably continue to-day until night and be followed by clearer and colder weather.

The snow was as annoying as a fog to navigators. The steamships Maasdam and Edith Godden left their piers but anchored off quarantine. The Pacific Mail steamship Colon went ashore on Romer Shoal in the morning, but was floated at high tide and came to the city.

ASPIRING TO IMITATE BUTLER.

TRENTON, March 5 .- Governor Abbett's evi-

HOW GOVERNOR ABBETT INTENDS TO COERCE THE LEGISLATURE. [FROM THE REGULAR CORRESPONDENT OF THE TRIBUNE.]

dent ambition to equal the achievements of the illustrious Butler, of Massachusetts, is approaching realization. He has raised himself by intense exertion at his boot-straps to Sir Oracle of his party in the Legislature, and proposes to fill the place of General Arbiter of the fate of all legisla tion. He is reported as somewhat mortified by the flat ness of the fall of his taxation measure, but hopes to re coup by other policies. One of his schemes is to refuse approval to any appropriation bill until the general corporation tax bill is passed. His system is to seek an terview with a member of the House where the bill originated, and secure its recal to the Committee or Passed Bills, where it is to wait untill he is ready for action. The Agricultural Experiment Station bill and the bill reorganizing the State Board of Agriculture are among the measures which are pending in this peculiar way. That he is not prepared to meet all the fates have decreed him, is shown by his neglect to send in the nominations now due from him. The only one he has made as yet, that of Prosecutor of Mercer County, lost him the support of one Demo-eratic Senator, and the chances are that the other nominations will leave him with fewer friends in either House. His action in pushing the Sinking Fund Commission bill without consulting Commissioner. Bodine, Dem ocrat, has opened him to censure in Trenton. The leading Democratic newspapers recently attacked the Gov-ernor's Fund bill severely, but has quieted down since it learned that the measure originated in the Executive brain. A spley addition to the Governor's mail recently was a letter from United States Senator Sewell, an old friend, declaring that the Governor's Tax bill was a disgrace to New-Jersey. MR. LURGESS DENOUNCES THE CORPORATIONS. The Assembly to-day defeated the Burgess General Plank Road bill, intended to affect the Newark Plank Road Company. A similar bili was lost some weeks ago by a vote of 23 to 36. The vote on the bill to-day was 26 koad Company. A similar bill was lost some weeks ago by a vote of 23 to 36. The vote on the bill to-day was 26 to 34, although they were really 28 votes in its favor. The corporations consolidated against the bill; and Mr. Burges, in advocating it attacked ten members who, he said, ate, drank and slept to the tune of the corporation fields, blind to every consideration but that which they received from the companies. The Corporation Tax Committee's bill, taxing all gas, insurance, telegraph and telephone companies two per cent on gross income, was ordered to a third reading. The conversion of the House from the evils of the Abbett scheme seems to have been thorough.

The House passed a bill forbidding horse car companies to require drivers and conductors to work more than twelve nours a day. The bill to create the office of "General Assessor" in Jersey City, was also passed.

In the Senate bills to enable Newark to issue more water bonds, to appropriate $4,000 for the Bureau of Statistics, and to enforce the payment of taxes by suit at law were passed. Senator Beatty introduces a third bill for the relief of the members of the Warren County ring who were sent to State Prison a few years ago. This restores Charles S. Strader to citizenship, Bills restoring Edmund Teel and Joseph B. Cornish to all their former privileges have been passed here so far. The bill giving firemen the same tax exemptions as members of the National Gnard, which had been defeated was reconsidered and laid over. Mr. Ariestrong in the House withdrew the "craveyard" insurance bill exposed some days ago. The House passed the hill permitting notaries to take the acknowledgment of deeds, and it now goes to the Senate.

A FAT LETTLE JOB—INVALID SENATORS,

A FAT LITTLE JOB-INVALID SENATORS. A joint resolution in the Assembly, providing for the purchase of 1,000 copies of the New-Jersey roster of the rebellion, at an expense of $16,000, was ordered to a third reselings, at an expense of $10,000, was ordered to a third reading to-day. It is said to be for the benefit of a printer who has 1,000 copies in his cellar, and is anxious to work them off on the State at an exorbitant price. Assemblyings Clarke is the author of the resolution. Senator Young shood fell and sprained his ankle on Monday and will be confined to his house for two weeks. Senator E. B. Miller, of Bergen, has not yet been swom in and, it is said, will never recover his health. Other Senators are not well, and unless final adjournment arrives pretty soon the number of daily attendants will probably be further diminished.

A SENATE HEARING ON CORPORATION TAXES. The Senate Committee on Corporation Taxes this even-ing gave a hearing on the Abbett Idil. Ex-Jastice F. H. Trees, representing the Sutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, spoke for an hour against the bill, showing ha would tax the company $800,000 a year, and drive in would tax the company $500,000 a year, and drive it from business, if it were passed, and that the company now paid $114,000 tax, which was equal to that paid by most of the companies of other States, and fully up to the proportion did not, however, object to any reasonable tax for the support of the State Government, and was prepared to pay it promptly it required. The company only a ks fair treatment which this bill would not give it.

H. Ex-Governor Bedle oppeared for the Delaware, Lacka-wanna and Western Railroad, and said the hill had passed the Assembly in a tempest and without proper considera-tion. He attacked the chances exempting manufacturing corporations while taxing those of religion, and then ex-tended to the control of the control o posed at length the damper railroad has sections.

Ex-A-semblyman Cstor argued in favor of the bill after admitting the justice of the Mutual benefits objectione. The hearing was adjourned at a late benefits objectione. TRYING TO SWALLOW STRYCHNINE.

Emma Louisa Troudt, a young widow, living at No. 146 James-st., Newark, went into Burkhardi's drug store, No. 271 Orange-st., last night, and attempted to swallow a dose of strychnine. Burkhardt seized her arm and dashed the poisou to the floor. The woman went out and Burkhardt informed the police. Two officers were sent to watch her and a physician was summoned. The woman had frequently visited the store, and Burkhardt on Tuesday procured a letter from a police justice ordering her to cease her visits.

THE PLACING OF ELECTRIC LIGHT WIRES.

The Fire Commissioners yesterday requested the Common Conneil to pass an ordinance relative to electric light wires. The ordinance compels the electric lighting companies to lay all their wires underground in the future and provides that the electric light wires now in use shall be kept on opposite sides of the streets from the Fire Department wires; at points where the wires cross, the electric light wires shall be placed four feet below the fire-alarm wires. A report was made by the Superintendent of Telegraph in the Fire Department concerning the damage caused to the fire-alarm wires by electric light wires.
